

Dixie Del's Cut Flower Farm Photography Policy

- Please remember our farm is also our home. It is private property and a working farm. We ask that you be respectful of our property and do not damage any structures, equipment, or crops while trying to capture your perfect shot.
- The farm may be weed-y, muddy, loud (neighborhood, dogs, farm equipment, etc.) Please keep this in mind as you book. We will be mindful of our equipment use during your visit. Usually the pathways are dry and conditions are great for photography. If you are concerned, please check with us before you arrive.
- Please do not move or touch farm equipment.
- We are not responsible for any injuries sustained while on the farm.
- Do not trespass on our property during non-business hours. Only guests who have reserved a photography session with us will be allowed to enter the farm for photography.
- Please inform your guests to be dressed and prepared for photo shoot as we do not have changing areas.
- Any equipment or props brought to the field must be carried in and carried out. Dixie Del's Cut Flower Farm assumes no responsibility for loss, theft, or damage to any equipment or belongings.
- In the flower fields, photographers and their clients must remain on pathways and never cross through beds. Picking flowers is not permitted—however, upon request and an additional fee, we may cut fresh blooms for you to use as props in your photos!
- Proper attire must always be worn during all photo shoots. We cannot accommodate boudoir photography sessions or any other risqué attire or photography.
- We will be on the property during all photography sessions and will be available to answer questions and provide assistance as we are able.
- If our photography policies are violated, we will require your immediate departure from the farm.
- Please tag us on all social media posts on Instagram or Facebook @dixiedels so we can share your work!
